Alaska Shield 2014 Hazmat Exercise

Alaska Shield 2014 is commemorating the 50th anniversary of the 1964 earthquake. The 2014 statewide exercise will include a simulated hazmat response in Kodiak on Thursday, April 3 at the City Dock from 7:00 a.m. until 6:00 p.m. The dock will be partially closed during this time.

Approximately 60 people are participating in the event, including ten hazardous materials response teams from throughout the state, as well as representatives from state, federal and industry partners. This exercise is a training opportunity for the hazardous materials response teams to respond to a variety of simulated hazmat releases as a result of a catastrophic earthquake.

The drill culminates a three day Hazardous Materials Symposium hosted by the Kodiak Fire Department.

For more information, please contact Jim Mullican, Deputy Fire Chief, Kodiak Fire Department at 486-8040.
